

China Starts Up Largest Wind Turbine Project

Posted on Feb 27, 2009 | 16:02

 Email to friend

Guangxi-based wind turbine manufacturer Avantis Yinhe began manufacturing wind turbines in a 2.5MW project in Beihai, Guangxi province on Thursday, reports In-en.com. This is China's largest wind turbine project, expected to produce 400 2MW, 2.5MW and 3.3MW wind turbines annually in the future, the report said.

Tags: Avantis Yinhe Clean Tech Wind

Digg

RELATED HEADLINES

China Starts Up Largest Wind Turbine Project...

Update: ET Solar Contract Worth 35M Euros ...

Astroenergy Produces 2nd Generation Thin-Film...

CTDC Disposes of Net Security Business for So...

Ministries Tour LDK, Polysilicon Makers...

Huamao Energy to Spend RMB 3.6B on Thin-Film,..

China Sunergy to See Negative GPM in Q4...

Suntech Signs Japanese Distributor House Care...

Suntech Signs North America BIPV Distribution...

Yiyang Solar Targets '09 Sales of RMB100M ...

Contact us | About JLM Pacific Epoch | About JL McGregor & Company | Privacy notice |

Copyright © JL McGregor & Company 2003-2008, All Rig